Sweet water bottles, which are used for drinking, come in the shape being that of a goblet inverted and with the clapper hung inside. A few days ago I saw a huge punch bowl filled for the first time at a social gathering. It was almost big enough for the christening of a baby, cost a small fortune and gleamed and flashed like the Queen of all the diamonds. About the top it was scalloped in huge fans, intricate and beautiful. The bowl, which was a breakfast table will give your guest a certain indication that you follow hard on the heels of the great ones, if you sound with their rever-

It drapes itself perfectly and is very durable, while the firmness of its texture renders it available for its use in plaits or gathers wherever with skirts are now made. It was not soft or supple enough to drape well, but now that draping has gone out of fashion, the alpaca has restored its favor. Another revival of the black and white checked lace for costumes. Mr. McAllister is, of course, a good judge of wines. He can detect the different brands of Madeira and knows the effect of age in producing the subtle web, sealing wax and nutmeg flavors, the consistency of the sweet and thick Madeira of a modern vintage.

But, while Mr. McAllister is an epicure, he is much better than a man of leisure himself. His society has been to him for many years, not once a pleasure and an occupation, and he thoroughly enjoys planning and promoting his own entertainments, but those of other people.

In selecting W. W. DUDLEY as general counsel for Republican contestants of Democratic seats in the House the Republican National Committee displayed its wisdom. If anybody knows anything about election frauds Col. DUDLEY does.

The fact that the miners in Pennsylvania cannot make enough to keep them from starving does not check the importation of cheap labor from Europe. The monopolists want to be well prepared to refuse when the miners strike for living wages.

REPUBLICAN organs which were demanding the abolition of the sugar duty are trying to adjust themselves to the McKinley bill, which reduces the duty on raw sugar but increases it on refined sugar. It is a terrible strain on the organs, but they are knocking down to it earnestly.

REFERRING to the Iowa election, the local Republican organ remarks: "The defeat of last fall was not an accident. It was the climax of a gradual process of Democratic gain at Republican expense." The recent elections indicate that a similar process is going on all over the country, and that the climax will be reached about November, 1892.

The men who are disgracing the School Board do not represent a fourth of the voters of this city. But that they represent any part of them and have the power to demoralize the school management is the fault of the voters who neglected the duty of voting at the School Board elections. There is a severe and salutary lesson here for the citizens of St. Louis.

VEST of Missouri and INGLAIS of Kansas will continue to be the most unfortunate of letter writers so long as they persist in putting "words that burn" into their private and confidential epistles to political cronies. The cronies invariably let the fiery particles take wind and cause a disturbance. Then INGLAIS manages to recover the original and promptly deny that it was correctly copied. This is method of continually explaining that he meant something different from what he wrote. But both of them wield the pen with a careless facility that keeps them nearly all the time in hot water.

Senator VEST might save himself a good deal of friction by putting Col. JOE RICKY forward to do his private letter writing as well as his newspaper interviewing.

NOLAND'S ACCOMPLICES.
The arrest of NOLAND puts one official delinquent in the hands of the law to be punished for a high crime. Nobody dares to ask that anything less than the full penalty of the law shall be meted out to him according to the degree of his guilt.

But it must be set down to his credit that he voluntarily gave up his criminal career, and that he voluntarily made known the amount of his embezzlement to a Governor and Auditor who had been criminally negligent of their duties, and who, but for the warning he gave them, might have continued to disregard their sight duty until he had completely "gutted" the Treasury.

On the 18th day of April, 1889, Gov.
FRANCIS carefully considered and approved a statute with an emergency clause putting it in force from the moment he approved it, and which made it his duty to carefully compare monthly reports from the Auditor, the Treasurer and the various depositories of State money, showing the amounts received, the amounts paid out, the warrants issued by the Auditor, etc. Heavy penalties were imposed on the depositories, the Treasurer and the Auditor for failing to transmit these reports in writing, verified by oath to the Governor, and the law commanded him to compare them and ascertain without delay whether the Treasurer had deposited the money coming into his keeping at the proper dates, and whether he had drawn or paid out only such sums as were equivalent to warrants signed by the Auditor. The law further made it the duty of the Governor to suspend either the Auditor or Treasurer and take possession of his office on his failing to make these reports on or before the 5th day of every month.

Yet from April to March the Governor ignored this new law bearing his own signature, and the Auditor and Treasurer and depositories all disobeyed it with his consent, while rumors were current that NOLAND was carrying as Treasurer a shortage of $9,000 in his accounts as first clerk under SEIBERT.

Is it fair under these circumstances to make NOLAND the scapegoat of two other delinquent officials and to punish him alone for the delinquencies of all three?
Should a just public opinion give the Governor the whole credit of timely discovery and prompt action in the matter of this defalcation, when he would have discovered a deficit ten months earlier if he had only done his sworn duty? The fact is that month after month he had wilfully failed to perform an official duty which no faithful Governor and good business man would have neglected. When NOLAND got tired of trying to get even at poker he had to send his attorney to hunt up the Governor in New York and to tell him there about a deficit which the Governor would have discovered last May if he had not wilfully made a dead letter of a law he had just signed.

BISMARCK performed a great work for the German nation and the Hohenzollerns, but in doing it crushed individual liberty and built up an almost absolute monarchy. He was the greatest foe to popular government and the strongest friend of thrones in Europe, so that whether Emperor WILLIAM throws him aside because of his rash conceit or a genuine desire to yield something to the aspirations of the people, liberal Germans and lovers of freedom everywhere can have little cause to regret the Iron Chancellor's retirement.

The reported refusal of Attorney-General WOOD to institute proceedings in the Supreme Court for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the Drabell law saves the schools from any risk of entire collapse at this time. But that this contingency does not exist is not due to any unwillingness on the part of the men holding offices for which they are apparently unqualified, to attempt it. They are still entitled to all the discredit of desiring to injure the schools in order to satisfy their revenge for the anticipated loss of spoils.

The evidence in the School Board case goes to show that when the good citizen does not take the trouble to vote for School Directors, there is generally some person ready to take his place and the ring folks are very accommodating in this respect and they are always prepared to save the good citizen the trouble of casting his own vote. The result is strikingly illustrated in the evolution of such muddles and rows as are now demoralizing the schools.

The few small reductions of duties comtemplated in the House tariff bill have aroused such opposition to it on the part of the Republican protection bosses that the reporting of the bill has been delayed in order that it may be fixed to suit the "fat" furnisiers. It is manifest that there is no hope of relief from taxation from the present Congress.

It is remarkable that a change of Ministers should have taken place so nearly at the same time in France and Germany.
The appearance of significance for the future is given this incident, because the International Labor Conference is believed to have caused both changes, and France demanded the return to office of a man who represents their hatred of Germany, while Germany loses the Minister who has contributed more than any one else to the maintenance of peace.

Adams' Plan for the Pacific Roads.

President Adams of the Union Pacific talked very amiably to the Congressional committee about the necessity for an extension of the debts of the Pacific roads. He insisted that the Government should consider the benefits to the country from the construction of these roads and give no thought to what they cost or the amount of watered stock in their capitalization. For like reasons, no doubt, Mr.
Adams would consider it wrong for the Government to make any inquiry in regard to the $75,000 a month bribe which the Pacific Railroad is now paying the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. on condition that the latter will change its routes, so that it will be able to enable the former to exact all the traffic will bear.
Shippers are thus charged not only for the cost of the service and a high profit, but for something in addition in order that all competition between carriers shall be suppressed.
Shippers over the Pacific roads not only pay high rates, but are forced to give $75,000 a month to make sure that charges shall not be reduced by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.

Too High Duties on Wool.

From the Minneapolis Journal (Rep.).
The very high duties on wool have had the effect neither of increasing the number of sheep nor of keeping up the price to the wool grower; yet the latter wants more protection and even prohibitory import duties on wool. In 1879 there were 738 sheep to 1,000 in the United States. In 1889 there were only 730 (and mostly in Texas and the Far Southwest), and the census of 1890 will probably show a still further diminution in the number. Under almost prohibitory duties from 1880 to 1883, the price of wool declined from 45 cents to 40 cents. If these results are found to be true, the principle of protection, in the case of wool, certainly demonstrates that it is useless to comply with the demand of the wool men for higher duties (on all the weavers of woolen goods in the United States).

Civil Service Debacle.

From the New York Post.
We advertised the other day to an attempt to displace the widow of Gen. Mulligan from the office of Pension Agent in Chicago as a scheme to make money out of the Government. In the annual of civil service and debate, we saw. It appears that the scheme has been successful, and that a benchman from Southern Illinois named Clements has been appointed to the place.
Those benchmen Mr. Clements is we understand, a man who has been in the Gen. Mulligan's office of wounds received in battle, leaving a young widow and three little children, daughters, and no money. The brother of Mrs. Mulligan lost his life in the same engagement. It is necessary to say more in order to characterize the displacement of this widow from office?

Senator Stanford's Queer Scheme.

From the Hartford Courant.
Senator Stanford's crazy proposition to increase National currency based on land mortgages is not a novel scheme. On paper it is this: There is ample land to secure an ample currency and so long as you can borrow on the land it will have a value, and therefore, having a value it will always sustain the currency. You can work it out as nicely as you can about your own property. Mr. Stanford should visit his own university long enough to have some of the boys tell him how John Law bedeviled the French currency and what a mess he made of it. It is the same idea.

Harrison as a Poker Player.

From the Chicago Herald.
A well-known United States Senator says that Ben Harrison is a rather clever poker player. "When Harrison was in the Senate," he says, "he used to play poker, and, like most dead-bloated men, he plays a pretty good game. He doesn't bluff much, and it is seldom he takes desperate chances, but he has excellent judgment, and when he has a good hand he will stay as long as anybody. I don't know whether he plays now or not, but in the White House, but when was in the Senate I have played with him many a time."

Democrats for Ballot Reform.

From the New York World.
In the Legislature of ten States 478 Democrats have voted for ballot reform bills and only eighty-eight against them—most of the latter in New York. It is the boast of Gov.
Hill that he is "a Democrat," but he is a better Democrat than Abbott, Campbell, Boies or Russell. Does he think it will advance his political ambition to antagonize a reform which is clearly in the interest of honest elections?

Who Will Pay the Freight?

From the Jefferson City Tribune.
It will cost a delegate from the southeast $100 to attend the convention at St. Joseph.
Beyond question the city has ample accommodations and sufficient lines of transportation to meet five times the demand occasioned by the delegates, but it is not likely that the legislature of the State. The result can easily be anticipated. Three-fourths of the delegates will be represented by proxies.

Better Than Railroad Property.

From the Philadelphia Times.
The amount paid in pensions by the United States last year exceeded the aggregate dividends of all the railroads in the country. This year it will be largely in excess, and with a continuation of the present policy it is only a question of time when the pensioners will consume all the earnings of every body else.

MEN OF MARK.

It is asserted that Robert Louis Stevenson will make his permanent residence at Samoa.
HIRSH PHILLIPS, colored, died Sunday in New York, after a faithful service of sixty years as a servant in one family.

FRENCH wine growers have a superstitious appreciation of comets, and expect good crops because four comets will be seen during the summer.

MORRELL HILL succeeded the late Mr. Macdonald as manager of the London Times. Mr.
Hill distinguished himself as representative of the Times at Cairo, Egypt.

CAPT. WILLIAM REED, who has been on the police force of Pittsburgh, Pa., for forty-four years, claims to be the oldest police officer in the United States in point of service.

The Duke of Portland has been disappointed again. It is a girl, and the precedent of a century, during which no direct heir has been born to the house, remains unbroken.

THE Hon. Mr. La Belle, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada, is the only Roman Catholic Bishop holding a Cabinet position in a secular government.

CARDINAL RICHARD, Archbishop of Paris,

A GENERAL RECEIPT.

SUSPICION THAT THE WHOLE-SCHOOL ELEC-TION WAS TINTURED WITH FRAUD.

If the Proceedings in the Court of Appeals fall of their Purpose Contests Will Probably Be Begun Against Messrs. Anker, Macklin and Rogers and a Dozen Others.

THE COURT, upon receiving the report of a recent duel between officers in the army, said:
"Duels in the army are absolutely necessary, and I desire that reports of such escapades shall not be brought to my notice."

JOHN RUSKIN is getting rounder at the shoulders, and his eyes have not yet lost their luster, and his friends say: "He does not look half as old as he is," which is 71.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD.

MISS AMELIA B. EDWARDS is being entertained in New York this week.

MRS. GROVER CLEVELAND is enlarging her apartment. She has had a corner-stone laid.

PRINCESS LETITIA wants to go and live in Paris, possibly to help Director MacKlin, there has been a very general expression of suspicion as to whether the candidates at large on the People's ticket were elected. There was talk of this kind, it will be remembered, immediately after the election. It was caused by the large vote polled by the People's ticket in localities where only a small vote was expected. The showing in the Standing-Kelly contest has led to the belief that there was probably an alliance between the men who ran on the People's ticket and men who were supposed to be friends of the Non-Partisan Citizens' nominees. The 103 ballots found in the poll at Precinct No. 126 on the name of Mr. Kelly was left on for District Director and Mr. MacKlin for one of the Directors at large, are good grounds for this belief, especially as these ballots show clearly that the vote was done by the same hands.
While President Miller's supporters
therefore may be convinced that Director Kelly was not elected they will more than

MRS. GROVER CLEVELAND is enlarging her

laid.

PRINCESS LETITIA wants to go and live in Paris, possibly to help Director MacKlin, there has been a very general expression of suspicion as to whether the candidates at large on the People's ticket were
be remembered, immediately after the election. It was caused by the large vote polled
by the People's ticket in localities where only
a small vote was expected. The showing in the Standing-Kelly contest has led to the belief that there was probably an alliance
People's ticket and men who were
supposed to be friends of the Non-Partisan Citizens' nominees. The 103 ballots found in the poll at Precinct No. 126 on the name of Mr. Kelly was left on for District Director and Mr. MacKlin for one of the Directors at large, are good grounds for this belief, especially as these ballots show clearly
that the vote was done by the same hands.
While President Miller's supporters
therefore may be convinced that Director Kelly was not elected they will more than
be prepared to believe that the candi-

To-morrow is the last day for filing suits returnable to the April term of the Circuit Court, and as usual there is a rush of suits to file their petitions before the close. Up to noon to-day 375 suits had been filed for the April term, and from 125 to 150 are expected in to-day and to-morrow, bringing the number of new suits up to about 500. The divorce suits grow in number with each term, and the increase is kept up by the rush of suits to the Circuit Court will outstrip the Chicago courts, which have gained a national reputation for that class of legislation. By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

New York, March 21.—Twenty-one cases of horse meat sent to the boarding house at Henry Basse's factory in Newton were attached while on the way to New York for shipment to Germany by Mrs. Anna Webber, a boarding-house keeper. Mrs. Webber says that Basse owes her $50 for boarding his butchers. Basse appeared before Judge Valliant and gave bonds in the sum of $300 and regained possession of the same. He said that there were twenty-three cases on the way to New York, seized by the Constables, and that two cases were missing. The Constables swore to the contrary. The case was set down for trial on Friday next.

AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE

Which Miss Carrie Braxton Went Through While a Burglar's Prisoner.

Miss Carrie Braxton had an exciting experience with a burglar at an early hour yesterday morning at her home, No. 2113 Pine street. She sleeps on the first floor, and between 3 and 4 o'clock she awoke to find the window of the room open. Her mother and her sister, Miss Nettie Braxton, occupy the back parlor as a bedroom, and the latter frequently opens the window to get fresh air, being subject to smothering spells. Thinking it was her mother who had opened the window for her sister, Miss Braxton called: "Mamma." Instead of replying the party in the room walked over to the window and pulled down the curtain to close out the light which poured in from the street lamp outside. The young lady saw that the figure that it was a man in his shirt sleeves. She cried out, and he came over to her bedside and grabbed at her. Then she saw that he wore a mask, and that he was either a negro or had blacked-up his hands to disguise himself as one. Although Miss Braxton is obliged to use a crutch when walking, she managed to get out of bed all right, and grabbing her crutches made her way to the hall door, which she opened, and then she screamed for help. Her mother and sister were awakened, and the latter rushed over the house acrossing the occupants. The burglar coolly dragged Miss Carrie back into the room and locked the door. He then deliberately walked over to the window and held his hand on his hip pocket, while he watched the sliding doors connecting the two parlors. After reaching there for a while, he got out of the window, keeping his face turned all the while toward the sliding doors. None of the occupants displayed any very great anxiety to form the acquaintance of the prowler and he departed in peace. It is supposed he had a key in the rear of the house as the servant girl who sleeps there saw the shadow of a man on the curtain of the window which opened on the veranda. A house on Olive street and another on Twenty-third and Pine streets received value that night from burglars. Miss Braxton thinks her caller was a negro.

The beautiful engraving, "Jersey," that will be given FREE to want advertisers in the next SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH will be framed by Heffernan, 1010 Olive street, at less than half the usual price.

DEFENDING HERSELF.

Mrs. Julia Lippincott, the Haddin Hall Financier, Makes a Statement.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Mrs. Julia Lippincott, the Haddin Hall financier, who disappeared after various charges of forgery had been brought against her, has been heard from at last through her attorneys in this city. She has prepared a long statement in which most of the charges against her are denied in detail. Among other things she says: "I gave in my name to the Burroughs at Mount Holly, valued at about $20,000, not $50,000 as reported. The papers say the money was spent in stock gambling. I paid $10,000 to settle with some relatives in the south out of my own means. My transactions with Mr. Geo. H. North and his books will show what I did. With Mr. North I have not bought or sold a share of stock or bonds for the last five years; perhaps I should say four. He has said to me: 'Why not make something for me?' I never had up to that time touched any of her securities and I most solemnly affirm that I had no idea Mr. North would sell them and I cannot, under the circumstances, be held responsible for the return of her investments. I had from Mrs. Haines a power of attorney to sign or sell the securities, but this she has since rescinded. Mr. North knows I had. After this loss of money it is natural to suppose Mrs. Haines would be angry with me, but she has been so kind to support her and her children for years. I have loaned a great deal of money and lost it, and many of the notes I sold were for money I have advanced. Since my marriage I have paid $10,000 to the architect, Messrs. Edmond A. B. Garesche and wife for $41.67, a balance claimed to be due for services in drawing plans and in supervising the erection of a house at Jennings Heights. Henry Hitchcock and C. C. ## THE FARMINGTON CRUSADE.

The Fair Crusaders Refuse to Submit to Arrest—Excitement Intense.

FARMINGTON, Mo., March 21.—The excitement here over the women's prospective raid on the saloons is intense. As yet there has been no trouble. Yesterday the saloon-keepers retaliated on the women engaged in the movement by having warrants sworn out charging them with attempting to break up their business. The prosecuting attorney, who is opposed to the women's movement, issued the warrants applied for by the saloon-keepers. The warrants were served on several of the ladies late last evening. One of them, Mrs. George W. Williams, called on the Justice of the Peace and declared that she would not give bond for her appearance in court. The other ladies made similar declarations. This morning the prosecuting attorney kept the peace, and the crusade against the saloons is likely to occur at any time. Public sympathy is with the women, and the law is enforced against them here now. Mrs. Forster and Mrs. Williams, sisters, are both natives of Washington County, but have resided here for many years. They are in affluent circumstances and are well known among the best women in this city. They are both members of the Presbyterian Church and are prominent in church work. Mrs. Ed. Jerrold has lived here for twenty years and is a highly respectable lady, the wife of a workingman. She has had occasion to visit the saloons more than once and has always left her mark. Mrs. Williams, another of the leaders, is a lady who has long resided in the county. Only ten days ago she visited the saloons and was arrested. She was released by the justice of the peace and has since been making her rounds. Mrs. J. C. Crawford's catalogue is made up from actual goods in their own stock, and the illustrations are copies of what is in their own store for sale, made by their own artist. Alimony and Counsel Fees Refused the Fair Plaintiff.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 21.—Judge Allen of the Court of Common Pleas refused yesterday to grant Mrs. Lizzie Frank alimony or counsel fees in her suit for a limited divorce from Chas. Frank, to whom she was married in 1884. She charges cruelty, abandonment and non-support, and says that on February 24, 1890, he beat her and put her out of the house. She estimates her injury at $100,000, and personal property at $10,000, and demands alimony of $500 a week and a $500 counsel fee.

Mr. Frank denies the charges and says that she had occasion to be absent frequently, and during one of his stays out of town she left his home. The court, between them, he asserts, is due to the fact that he declined to put all of his property in her name and allow her to handle his cash. He denies that he is worth any such sum as she states. His sister corroborates his version of his conduct. She adds that Mrs. Frank, who is a young woman, exclaimed several times that "I wish I was a man" in marrying a man of 40, and also advised her female friends to guard against such a mistake. Judge Allen gave Mrs. Frank leave to renew the application within a week upon additional papers.

THE UNPAID LABORERS
LEE MERIWETHER AND MRS. L. A. WIGGIN DISCUSS THE SUBJECT.

Revelations Made in the Meeting of the Associated Charitable Workers—Factory Girls in St. Louis and New York—A Question of Morals—An Annual Report and Future Prospects.

THE Associated Charitable Workers met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the office at 1006 Chestnut street. After Mrs. E. F. Johnson's report and the discussion it elicited had been disposed of a number of papers were read. Mrs. Lucy A. Wiggin prefaced her paper upon the condition of workingwomen in other cities by a brief reference to her own work among the factory girls of this city and commented upon the fact that none of the established charities, with this single exception, comprehended in their scope the factory girls. She was followed by Lee Meriwether, State Labor Commissioner, who read a paper on the same subject. He thought that on the whole the New York working woman was not as well off as her sister in Philadelphia or St. Louis. Speaking of morals, he said: "The cost of living is out of proportion to the wages earned, and this fact has often been the occasion of unfavorable comment upon working women's morals. It is known that the average wages earned do not exceed $4 per week, while the cost of living, especially of salerwomen, who are obliged to dress well, is known to exceed that amount."

"THE INFERREND THEN MADE is that the workingwoman ekes out her scanty wages at the expense of her virtue. The first investigation led me to think that something in the charge made against the morals of workingwomen, was a deeper study of the condition of workingwomen in twenty-two cities shows that out of 7,427 only 700 live in board houses. 14,318 live at home and this is a convincing reply to the charges of immorality based upon the excess of the cost of living over the wages earned. Where 80 per cent live at home this fact cannot be taken as evidence of immorality. As far as statistics can show it is clear that the great majority of workingwomen are not immoral. The charges of immorality are not other members of the family. Of all classes of laborers the shoemaker has the least share of the wealth they produce."

Mr. Meriwether told of an organization in New York City called the Workingwomen's Protective Union, which employs an attorney who is present at its weekly meetings ready to give legal advice and to prosecute cases where wages are unjustly withheld. During the last year, he said, 1,800 cases of this kind had been prosecuted and upward of $35,000 had been recovered and given to the workingwomen. He said that the Associated Charitable Workers, in lieu of such a union in this city, stands ready to prosecute any case of this kind where workingwomen cannot assume the cost of a suit.

MR. MERIWETHER SAYS that hard-working women are being systematically robbed daily by rascally agents and the unscrupulous corporations which they represent. He said that a woman came to him to him that she has been deceived several times by rascally agents. She bought a machine of him, with the understanding that she was to pay $3 per week, and he had agreed to deliver the machine to her. When she had paid $23 the agent appeared and demanded $5. When she refused to pay he threatened to sue her. She then turned to him and said: "What are you going to do about it?" He replied: "I will take you to court. I will sue you for $500." She then turned to him and said: "What are you going to do about it?" He replied: "I will take you to court. I will sue you for $500."

THE FIRST ANNUAL REPORT of the Associated Charitable Workers just been issued. The financial report shows that the total amount of subscriptions for 1889 was $1,088.25. The number of cases investigated was 1,088, representing 917 persons of fifteen nationalities. The object of the society is the promotion of whatever tends to the betterment and improvement of the condition of the poor. It endeavors to reduce vagrancy and pauperism and ascertain their causes, to prevent illegitimate and duplicate giving, to secure the community from imposture, to see that all deserving cases of destitution are properly relieved, to make employment the basis of relief, to elevate the home life, health and habits of the poor, to prevent children from growing up paupers. These things it aims to attain by bringing about co-operation among all charitable agencies, by a system of registration to prevent imposture, by securing thorough investigation and the COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—A military commission out of the ordinary line of promotion has been issued by the Adjutant-General, S. W. Gibbons, requested that a commission as First Lieutenant be issued to John Alexander Logan, the third, born February 12, last, a grandson of the late Senator Logan. The request of Col. Gibbons is that out of regard for the intercession of Logan and considering the great interest of Capt. John A. Logan, the second, in the National Guard, as well as the little known fact that Logan is a descendant of the First Lieutenant of the Logan family is issued. The request was granted and the commission, signed by Gov. Campbell and Adj. Gen. Hawkins, was forwarded. It dates back to the day John A. Logan, the third, was born. This makes Young Logan the youngest commissioned officer in the world.

The Circumstances That Conspired to Advance a Well-Known Railroad Man.

NEW YORK, March 21.—How circumstances conspired to a man's advancement is amusingly illustrated in the case of Frank S. Gannon, who was recently promoted from the Superintendent of the Staten Island Transit Co. to the head of the Baltimore & Ohio New York branch. Some years ago he was agent of the Erie Railroad at Millville, a backwoods station on the Honesville branch. He had a taste for newspaper work and was the correspondent from that locality of a Port Jervis paper. One day he sent a big story to that paper about the dead body of a woman having been found in a ravine some miles from Millville, and that it had been identified as that of the wife of a well-known German resident of Pike County. The story stated that all the circumstances tended to indicate that the woman had been murdered by the husband and cast into the ravine. The story was printed and made a sensation. A few days later the alleged murderer entered the office of the paper and made a scene. He was a grand success. Over seventy-five establishments were represented and the costumes and drill were perfect. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ward are in Kansas City attending the wedding of their niece, Miss Mary Dubuque to Mr. Robert Walker, of William F. Ring, a former Sedalia, is just issuing a book entitled "Stories of a County Doctor."

About two weeks ago Mr. Barker took out an accident insurance policy which will pay him $25 per week during his vacation. Architect Franklin has already taken building contracts for the coming season to the amount of $100,000, and that is only the beginning of the building boom. Miss Ella Gentry, of Kansas City, who was given in Woods' Opera-house last night for the benefit of the Christian Church, was a grand success. In fact I like all men who can create something. In fact I like men who are not tied down to the dull earth by ordinary facts. Stupidity can tell a thing exactly as it is, but it requires brain to tell it as it ought to have been. That is why I like the press."

PECULIAR USE OF THE BIBLE.
A Jerzman Consults It to Make Up His Verdict.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 21.—A peculiar use of the Bible was made in the jury-room in Justice Dykman's case in Westchester, in a trial which ended yesterday. Bruce Van Tassel of the Hiale Plains sued the Manhattan Eye and Ear Infirmary of this city for damages for not properly treating his eye, in consequence of which he lost the sight of it. After the jury had been charged by Justice Dykman Wednesday afternoon, they retired for deliberation. Mr. Van Tassel at once produced the Bible and began to read. He opened the proceedings with prayer. The jurymen began bawling and soon arrived at a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2,000. But Van Tassel said that he must first find out what the Lord said about making a Bellot in a law suit. After spending a long time in search he said that as there was nothing in the Bible on the subject he could not vote. After several hours wasted in seeking and building on the verses which the jurymen used to Justice Dykman. One juror said first and

AN INTERESTING DOCUMENT.
Daniel Webster's Resolution Blaming Railroad Directors for an Accident.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 21.—An old resident of this city has an interesting relic of an old-time railroad accident, in the form of a resolution which was drawn by Daniel Webster, who was a passenger on the train to which the accident occurred. The document is particularly interesting as showing the methods of railroad managers in those days—it was along in the forties—and what the great Webster's ideas were as to what railroading should be. An accident occurred on a New England railroad and an indignant meeting of the passengers was called on the spot, several persons having been killed. Mr. Webster made a vigorous speech at the meeting and drew up the resolution as expressing the sense of the outraged passengers. It was as follows:

Resolved, That the collision was, in the judgment of this meeting, the result of gross and culpable negligence on the part of the directors of the line, in not causing their orders as to the place of meeting of the cars, to be distinctly marked upon the cars, and that the omission to provide lights upon the respective trains, and the placing of the baggage car in the rear instead of the front of the passenger car, was highly reprehensible, and that, in the opinion of this meeting, the cause of the public.

LEXINGTON, Ark., March 21.—A Mrs. James Folles was arrested and confined in the County Jail of Saline County yesterday on the charge of attempting to kill Dave Sharp, a reputable citizen of Benton. She crept up behind him as a county log-rolling and struck him a terrific blow over the head with a hand-spike. It is feared Sharp will die. Mrs. Folles claims in defense that he had insulted her.

HEARST'S KING THOMAS.

HOW THE CALIFORNIA SENATOR'S FANCY-PRICED YOUNGSTER HAS DEVELOPED.

Condition of Other Animals in the Hearst Stable—The Battle to Night Between Jack McAllister and Jimmy Carroll—Racing at New Orleans and Gutterburg—Base Ball and Other Sports.

A bright day it is only a pleasant walk from the Brooklyn track to where the horses are wintering at Sheephead Bay, writes a correspondent. Here it is that the famous flyers of that great patron of the turf, Senator Hearst, are quartered, and every day when the weather permits they can be seen taking their exercise. Most alien to the trainer, and although he has given the horses no special work, they have done enough to enable one to form an estimate of them.

First of all is that big, lanky 5400 lb. son of King Tom and Maud Hampton. Those who saw him Futurity Day and noticed his enormous girth, and the thickness of his bones and sinews, would be amazed to see how he has spread out and increased since then. It seemed that nature had at that time done all in her power in the way of muscular development, but the King Thomas of the Futurity was a child as compared with the King Thomas of today. He looks in superb condition and in spite of his size he is a graceful and easy mover. Allen says his temper is good, in spite of all that has been said to the contrary. There is the same lack this year as there was last in the development of King Thomas behind the saddle. It gives him a curious look, but his trainer thinks that he will be filled out in time. He has improved wonderfully in his general appearance. That air of general laziness and slowness of motion which characterized him last year is gone. He is as brisk and quick now as his famous brother, Sam Fox, and the stable expects much from him.

"He ought to be heard from this season," says Allen, significantly. He ought indeed. If there is any dependence to be placed in good movement and superb muscles King Thomas will vindicate Senator Hearst's judgment.

Other Hearst Cracks. None of Senator Hearst's string has improved more than Ballarat. It is difficult to believe it is the same horse. He has not only grown stronger and bigger, but there is an added fire in his movements and he seems to feel the royal blood of his sire in every motion he makes. A gallant looking animal in Ballarat, and though he only recorded a victory last season, he ought to be a breadwinner this year.

That gloomy, rain-coated animal with the white blaze on his face, has a paddock all to himself. He is ragged and rough now in his winter garb, and does not seem to be particularly liked by the stable. At one time Senator Hearst was very partial to Rhono, but the colt turned out to be nothing but a grandstand prancer, who did beautifully in a preliminary gallop to the post, and then thought this was his last.

Allen's favorite of the 2-year-olds is Warpath. By Don Frank and Exile. Warpath is a beautifully modeled bay. He is unusually large, but is not so equine as the others. He is also does not strike the observer for some time. From his ideal perfect head to his aristocratic feet, he seems to be a creature that a sculptor could change. Senator Hearst paid $15,000 for him. "Firework," a full sister to Warpath, is another handsome animal.

Anaconda and Tournament have both wintered well. Anaconda is growing to look more and more like his phenomenal sire Spendrift. Tournament is growing to look like his sire, and the total of stable winnings this year, although there are lines of coarseness about him which are not pleasing.

PROSPEROUS ST. LOUIS.

A SPRING TRADE THAT OUTLIES THAT OF ANY PREVIOUS SEASON.

The Hotels Filled to Overflowing by Sellers of Buggy-Sales—Unprecedented in Number and Amount—Phenomenal Growth of the Missouri Trade—The Farmers Prosperous.

EVER before, save on the occasion of some convention, fair or celebration, have there been so many strangers in the city as during the last two weeks. There may be some persons who are unaware of the fact that the trade of St. Louis is very largely increasing, but no one who has visited the hotels lately can deny the fact.

At least five mornings of the week a large proportion of the incoming guests at the first-class hotels are obliged to wait until the evening trains have left before they have been able to secure rooms.

There is now a boys' club at Eleven and Locust streets open Tuesday and Saturday evenings. Games of various kinds have been going on since the club was organized, and the boys are greatly enjoying themselves.
